

A thoughtfull Walk

This project came from a series of walks trough a reservation garden in Central Park. I wanted to create an enclosed dream like space that would appear anything like what it is to be living in New York.

